International application No.

PCT/DE2004/001790

Box No. V

Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement the subject matter of claim 1. It discloses (the reference signs in parentheses refer to this document):

"a rail-guided transport system for persons and material in underground mining and tunnel construction, consisting of a rail network and transport vehicles ([0001], [0002]) guided on this rail network, each transport vehicle (2) being equipped on its front end in the direction of travel and on the opposite end with sensors for detecting optical, acoustic, temperature and acceleration information (17, 18, 32, 33), and the sensors being connected to a control computer (29) that is arranged in the transport vehicle and forms part of a telematics system that monitors and controls the transport system (25, 26, [0034], [0037]), the sensors (32,33) interacting with active and passive signal transmitters (20,21) in the network ([0033]), in which freely positionable terminal and station signal transmitters can be installed ([0006], in particular lines 23 to 30 and 38 to 41)."

The subject matter of claim 1 differs from the known transport system in that one of the sensors is a laser scanner, whereas D1 merely mentions distance sensors in general in paragraph [0011].

Box No. V

Renounced statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability;
citations and explanations supporting such statement

The feature of the laser scanner as a distance sensor is, however, only one of several obvious possibilities from which a person skilled in the art would choose according to the circumstances in order to monitor the space in front of the vehicle and to avoid collisions.

3 DEPENDENT CLAIMS 2-3 AND 5-7

Claims 2-3 and 5-7 contain no features that, in combination with the features of any claim to which they refer, meet the PCT requirements for novelty and inventive step.

4 DEPENDENT CLAIMS 4 and 8

The combination of features claimed in claim 4 is known to a person skilled in the art. It is obvious that vehicles the operators of which do not have an overview of the entire area of movement or which automatically move forward in a non-confined area should warn people who are in the way in a visual (for example, using yellow blinking lights) or acoustic manner (for example, using a horn) so that they can move out of the way.

Therefore, the subject matter of claim 4 does not involve an inventive step (PCT Article 33(3)).

Box No. V Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

The subject matter of claim 8, namely the use of an on-board camera for remote-controlled vehicles, is obvious to a person skilled in the art who wishes to minimize the dangers to persons who are in the area of movement without requiring directly manned vehicles.

Therefore, the subject matter of claim 8 does not involve an inventive step (PCT Article 33(3)).
